Report on Ted-Talk

“New Brain Computer Interface Technology”

The department has organized Ted-Talk on the topic “New Brain Computer Interface Technology” by Steve Haffman on 19th August, 2021 for the students.

This talk has organized for BSc II, IV & VI Sem. Students. The students were benefited with this talk. Their response was very positive.

In this talk Steve Haffman told BCI technology allows a human brain and an external device to talk to one another – to exchange signals. It gives humans the ability to directly control machines, without the physical constraints of the body.

Humans controlling machines with their minds may sound like something from a sci-fi movie, but it's becoming a reality through brain-computer interfaces. Understanding this emerging technology now can help ensure that effective policies are in place before BCI becomes a part of everyday life.
