Report on Ted-Talk - 2017-18

'Art of Hacking'

The department has organized Ted-Talk on the topic 'Art of Hacking' by Rahul Sasi on 14th September, 2017 for the students.

This talk is organized for BSc I, III & V Sem. Students. The students were benefited with this talk. Their response was very positive.

Hacking has become a very frequent phenomenon. But the extent a person can do legally brings the question of introspection. With the word "privacy" becoming a mockery, the art of white hat hacking has become convenient in day to day life.

In this talk Rahul Sasi explained about what exactly hacking means. He shows some examples on how hackers hack. Rahul Sasi's interest in hacking has given the opportunity to hack a few websites and found a simple backdoor in our terrestrial cable connections that relay television signal, through which he was able to handle a channel frequency at his own will and most important how hackers hack our Bank Accounts by asking number of questions through telephone.

The Main points discussed in this video are

- Whether our Bank accounts are secured
- Changing channel frequency of cable connection
- Hacking Drone
