A Report

We conducted the TED-TALK on 8/08/19 in seminar hall at 10.30 to 11.30 on the Topic "Ideas for India's future" from department of Sociology BA students were present. By this TED-TALK Nandan Nilekani Shares his views like ideas take root the things change slowly ideas lead ideology lead to policies that lead to action and all the other things happened in Roosevelt's time. And today after the global economic, crisis and he looked at India and said there was a whole new set of rules about how the state should intervene, so ideas change states. There are four kinds of ideas. Which really make an impact on India the first to my mind is what call as "The ideas that have arrived". These ideas have brought together something which has made India happen the way it is today. The second set of ideas he call as ideas in progress. Those are ideas which have been accepted but not implemented yet. The third set of ideas are what he call as ideas that we argue about those are ideas where we have fight an ideological battle about to do something. And the fourth thing, which I believe is most important is "the ideas that w need to anticipate. In 60 s and 70s we thought of people as burden or liability but now its (HR) Human Resource or asset so from this ted- talk students were motivated and it also helped them to deal with Knowledge of India's future and how to motivate themselves and how set their mind set.
